 - vi. ensure that the Goods are ready for pickup so that the Carrier is not delayed in performing the Services.
- b. The Carrier may in its absolute discretion, at the cost of the User, undertake any testing or analysis of the Goods.
- c. If, in the sole opinion of the Carrier, Goods subsequently become Dangerous Goods, then the Carrier may, at the cost of the User, destroy, dispose of or render harmless the Goods without prejudice to any of the Carrier's rights under these Terms.
- d. The acceptance of the Goods by the Carrier for storage pending carriage shall not bind the Carrier to carry the Goods.
- e. The Carrier may at any time require the User to remove the Goods at the User's expense (whether in the case of non-shipment or otherwise) and if the User fails to do so within seven days of such notice without limiting any right of the Carrier, the User shall be liable to pay the Carrier a fee for storage from the date of such notice until the date of removal.

- b. Goods are accepted for carriage at the later of:

 - ii. the time the Carrier takes possession of all Goods referred to in the Consignment Note.
- c. The User is responsible for unloading Goods if the Contract or Consignment Note specifically states "Owner to unload" or words to that effect
- d. If the Carrier instructs the User to use or it is agreed that the Carrier will use a particular method of handling, storage or transportation of the Goods, the Carrier must give priority to that method, but if such method cannot be conveniently adopted by the Carrier the User authorises the Carrier to handle, store or transport the Goods by another method or methods.
- e. The User authorises any deviation from the usual route or method of transport of the Goods, which may in the absolute discretion of the Carrier be necessary or desirable in the performance of the Services.
